

Terms of Use

Your personal information and privacy is of very high importance to us at Peninsula Sports Medicine Group. You may use our blog anonymously however when referring friends , or when subscribing to our mailing list we may request particulars of personal identifying information in order to fulfill a request of yours.

We will never rent, sell, trade or in any way reveal your personal information to a third party without your prior consent unless otherwise required by law.